How DSM Simplified Sales Performance Management with Varicent Incentives

Established in 1902, DSM is a global purpose-led and performance-driven company specializing in nutrition, health, and sustainable living. With a wealth of science and innovation at their disposal, DSM tackles some of the world's greatest challenges, creating value for their customers, employees, shareholders, and society at large.

The Challenge

Unexpected shifts in market dynamics as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, as well as other external uncertainties and headwinds, made it difficult for DSM sellers to go out and sell the products that deliver on their mission of Building Brighter Lives for All.

To compound these challenges, at the end of 2020, when their performance year ended amid the pandemic, DSM recognized their existing sales performance management solution was no longer sustainable. They needed a new solution to support their employees — and fast.

Varicent very quickly understood who we are, what our challenges are, and how our sales incentives work. They were able to give us a solution to the problem we had.

The Transformation

Due to the fast-approaching contract end date of their existing sales performance management solution, DSM needed a tool that could be implemented in a short period of time. They couldn't afford a gap. The implementation fell on the shoulders of Mischa Bijl, Manager of Total Rewards at DSM. Through the execution of OpenSymmetry's competitive vendor selection process with the aim of identifying the technology that was most aligned to the needs of DSM, and addressing the impending solution gap, Mischa was happy to see Varicent checked all their boxes.

Here are four reasons why DSM chose Varicent Incentives:

Best-in-class customer support

With the confidence that Varicent and OpenSymmetry were the optimal choice, the teams needed to meet the tight implementation timeframe. Mischa explains, "It was quite stressful because we had to tell our business leaders that we were decommissioning the current tool on December 12th, just before you start closing the year. And the general experience with implementing a tool is that it takes up to a year, or months, to get up and running."

Through meticulous planning workshops with OpenSymmetry, a bespoke implementation plan was conceived, and DSM was able to implement Varicent Incentives within the tight timeline. "It's possible to pull something like this off in just a short period of time," says Mischa, "And we ended up with a tool that works."

A friction-free seller experience

In the previous tool, sellers were not able to see the underlying transactions, so they had no way to check how their compensation was calculated. Varicent Incentives gave sellers full transparency into their transactions and performance with customizable reports and dashboards. Providing visual data to sellers can eliminate shadow accounting, a practice that takes focus away from reaching revenue goals.

Automated, intuitive workflows

For DSM, it was important to have a solution that is easy to use and accessible for all employees. Varicent Incentives provided intuitive and automated workflows that eliminated the errors, inefficiencies and frustrations that come from manual processes.

Visibility into sales performance

With Varicent's enhanced analytics and performance data, leaders are now empowered to take decisive action based on easily accessible enhanced analytics. They have access to the dashboards and tools they need to coach their sellers to outdo past performance.

Now, with Varicent, we will be able to see, very easily, which customers purchased which products from which sellers. It's already a huge improvement at DSM.

The Results

With the 2020 performance year closure behind them, DSM already has their eyes on the horizon. “We have set the targets for this year and are already looking ahead at things like discovery dashboards, enhanced analytics, and spiff, which we have never done like this before,” explains Mischa. “We had our sales contests, but they were always coordinated offline on a piece of paper or in Excel.”

DSM efforts for future success don't stop there. DSM will expand Varicent Incentives into additional business entities, so more employees have access to information and performance data to make better decisions. “So far, I'd say the response has been very positive, and there's only more to come.”
